

Postgraduate Course:

Diagnostic Gastrointestinal Pathology

Hotel Courtyard by Marriott, Linz, Austria
May, 8–10, 2019

Course Directors:

Michael Vieth, MD

Professor of Pathology, Chairman, Department of Pathology, Klinikum Bayreuth, Germany

Elizabeth Montgomery, MD

Professor of Pathology, Department of Pathology, Johns Hopkins University Baltimore, USA

Hidenobu Watanabe, MD

Professor emeritus of Pathology, Department of Pathology, Niigata University, Japan

Course Objectives

During the course 60 cases of benign and malignant gastrointestinal tumors as well as inflammatory conditions of the esophagus, stomach, small bowel, and colorectum will be presented.

The course is limited to lesions of the tubular gastrointestinal tract. Lymphomas and lesions of the pancreatico-biliary tract and liver will not be addressed. Both common and rare conditions will be presented and set into a clinical context. On each day, 20 cases will be extensively discussed by an interactive approach. Particular attention will be paid to diagnostic criteria and differential diagnoses. The value and limitations of immunohistochemistry will be critically discussed. A comprehensive review and update on histopathology will be provided. The participants will have the opportunity to review 60 digitized cases (virtual microscopy) four weeks prior to and after the course.

Participants

This course is designed for the practicing pathologists as well as pathologists in training (senior level trainees). Attendance is limited to 100 participants.
